Tacoma Urban League Banquet Gets Large Turnout

By Vertist Edwards

Over 500 people attended the Fifth Annual Banquet of the Tacoma Urban League Inc. (TUL) at the Top of the Ocean Restaurant, on Friday, April 19th where National Urban League Executive Director Vernon E. Jordan was featured as the keynote speaker.

Among the many dignitaries present were Washington State Representative Floyd Hicks, Human Resource Assistant to the Governor Nat Jackson, Mayor Gordon Johnston, Superintendant-designate of Tacoma Public Schools, Alexander Sergienko, retiring Superintendant Dr. Angelo Guiadrone, Pacific Lutheran University President Eugene Weigman, City Councilmen Dick Sonntag, Harold Moss and Dr. Arnold Herrmann.

Bringing greetings from the City, Mayor Johnston explained that, "The quietness of today does not reflect the Urban League's ineffectiveness for it is still doing an excellent job, even though the Executive Director Tom Dixon has quieted down some in the last four years."

Representing the Governor at the Banquet was Jackson, who presented an Honorary Washington State Citizenship Award to Jordan. Silver plated Urban League pins were presented to Public Relations Director of KSTW television station for his services to the League in public affairs and to Guiadrone for his instrumental support to the League in fund raising during its beginning in 1968 and for his excellent leadership in making School District 10 one of the best in the state even though the League has had opposing opinions on many of his decisions.

Jordan, in his address to the guests at the banquet explained that the league engages in many fields for minorities - black, white, red, yellow and brown peoples. Some may not know of its existence, but may nonetheless be depending on it for survival. "If the Urban League fails in its mission, American fails," said Jordan. He posed a national employment program to assure everyone capable of work, a job. He also proposed a federally paid health program that would give comprehensive medical and dental care for everyone in need and a government paid education to medical professionals enrolled in school in turn for their services for a given period of time after certification. Jordan also spoke of 1974 as a "crucial year in this country with impeachment proceedings, distrust in government officials, the high cost of living and high unemployment.

"If not now... When?" was the title of the banquet and of TUL's executive director's speech. In his delivery Dixon proposed the question to city government, county commissioners, the private business sector, School District 10, United Way (a major financial support of TUL), the Metropolitan Park Board, and the Tacoma minority community.

In his speech Dixon pledged the League's support to the new superintendent of Tacoma School District if he: immediately appointed a female or minority as assistant superintendent, promotes minorities or females to all levels of administrative positions, and if he pledges to move minorities forward rather than backward in terms of quality education.

"If not now... when?" Dixon asked, "In terms of increasing minority employment within the ranks of city government and equal treatment and respect for minorities... in terms of increasing minority employment in county government where we make up 10% of the county population but constitute less than 4% of the county's employees."

Dixon called for "true brotherhood" in the religious sector and asked "why minorities own and operate less than 1% of the local business enterprizes." He finally asked, "When will organizations service the entire community, minorities, women, and all ethnic groups? We as Blacks believe in America for we have worked, sweat, bled, and died for this country and we ask for equal results for all," he concluded.

THEATRE

by Nellie Palms

Breaking open my well garded shell
You make me face myself
And enjoy it
You give me no other choice but to live
Pick up pieces of my shattered life
Watch me fit them together
And smile
You talk to my soulfulness
And Make it dance
Narrow the way
Accepting non other than the real me
Throwing carbon copies in the trash
Sending my high horse out to pasture
Turning the green grass on the other side Black
Making me see through more than my eyes
And speak through more than my mouth
Keeping me reaching when I can't see anything to touch
Making me take my share
Strengthening my strength
Spreading my feet far enough apart to stand alone
What can I do for you
Other than let you be you by me being me

MEDITATION

"Take your finger and examine my hands. Put your hand into my side. Do not persist in your unbelief, but believe" Jesus said to Thomas. "You become a believer because you saw me. Blest are they who have not seen and have believed."

Omega Psi Phi

By Delta Pi Chapter

A man for all seasons was Col. Charles Young. A Son of Omega Psi Phi was Col. Young whose talent, intellect, dedication, and love for humanity serves us still as an inspiration to strive for a richer and fuller life through excellence.

Brother Young was born March 12, 1864 in a hotel at Maylick, Kentucky. At the age of nine he, with his parents and grandparents, moved to Ripley, Ohio. He was taught first by his maternal grandmother, who was the first "woman of color" to be appointed to teach in that section. So intense was his desire to learn and his ability to use these teachings, that, by age sixteen, he also was teaching school.

In 1884, by competitive examination, he won an appointment to West Point Military Academy. Graduated in 1889, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant Calvary officer in the regular United States Army rising to become the highest ranking Black Officer of his time.

He was a soldier, a dramatist, a poet, a linguist, and a musician. He was the author of "Toussaint L'Ouverture", a drama; and an essay, "Military Morals of Races". He set to music, "The Beatitudes", eight pieces. He wrote one hundred and three short poems called, "Song Wings". He widened still his horizons by playing the various instruments of the orchestra from flute to harp. He served in many military campaigns and many believed with psychic insight. Died in Liberia, Africa, January 2, 1922.

He endured the weary pangs of racial prejudice, both at West Point and in the Army, but he was always patient with his country and urged all he met to likewise be loyal.

Col. Charles Young, the inspirer of youth, the artist, the "Happy Warrior", the Son of Omega Psi Phi.

Although the objectives were worthy, everyone now knows that price controls simply did not work exactly as hoped. Instead, they interfered seriously with food production and marketing. Many shortages developed and prices increased. Now, with controls off, and the food business again operating in its normal, freely competitive manner, supply and demand should start to come into balance. Because some foods take longer to produce than others, not everything will become plentiful at the same time. Meanwhile, we will continue to do everything within our power to give you the kind of values you expect to find at Safeway.

We pledge that in our store near your home, you will continue to find quality foods, priced to save you money. We look forward to more abundant supplies of foods, and the opportunity to give our customers even better values.

THE POLITICIZER

The County Commissioners have many duties. Many duties that are important to the members of the Tacoma community. However, they have been left alone to do their thing. They can be responsive to the needs of the Tacoma community, if residents of Tacoma would give some input and participate.

The Pierce County Board of Commissioners has 3 members. The County is divided into three districts and commissioners are nominated within the district, but elected at large. Commissioners are elected to a four year term on a staggered basis. The board's principle duties are: 1) adoption of the budget; 2) approval of expenditures; maintenance and construction of county roads; 3) adoption of ordinances; 4) management of county property.

They also have the power to levy taxes, make appropriations, authorize bonds, and pass on claims against the county. The Commission appoints various special boards (Planning Commission, and County Hospital Board, etc.) These boards are largely advisory, their offices are filled on a four year basis and salaries are fixed by the commissioners. Principal appointive offices are: Engineer; Budget Director; Executive Director; Executive Assistant; and Purchasing Officer.

To secure a place on the agenda of the County Commissioners a person should contact one of the commissioners or the clerk of the board. A citizen may also simply attend the public meetings held every Tuesday of each month from 10:00 on in the County Commissioners Chambers - 10th floor - County-City Bldg., and ask to be heard.

Please attend the following meetings this week:

Caballeros Social Club "News"

by Henry L. Johnson

It's been quite nerving these last two weeks since our printing and unfortunately our news is not all good news. All of us at the Caballeros mourned the sudden death of our number one member and grand patriarch Ray Gibson.

Ray's accomplishments are numerous as was his dedication to every task at hand. President, Chairman of the Executive Board, Club Manager, the list is endless, and thats just at the Caballeros. Ray still found time to judge elections at the 27th ward and maintain the position of precinct captain for his ward. All of Tacoma will miss this wonderful human being and friend.

As a tribute to our brother and inspirational leader Ray Gibson, we have unanimously agreed to change the name of our club to "The Ray Gibson's Caballeros Club", a well deserved memorium to a tremendous Caballero.

In other business we have completed the Patio and the bar-b-que pit is almost finished. I'd like to remind everyone to return all stubs and money at the earliest possible date, no later than our first meeting next month. May 12th is the drawing date and patio party day. President Gill has really been getting it together for a patio party to remember.

It's good to see brother John Webb back on his feet and Claton Brook's wife back home, our best to each of you. Please forgive me if I've overlooked anyone who's sick or convalescing, get well soon so we can see you at the Club.

Fantastic Black Facts

by Rose Marie Johnson

Perhaps the most traumatic event in American church life in 1969 occurred on Sunday, May 4, at Riverside Church, New York City, when James Foreman, former head of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), interrupted the regularly scheduled church service to present the Black Manifesto. Not many church people had known of the Manifesto prior to that time, but before the week was over most Americans were painfully aware of it. The Manifesto was originally presented at the first National Black Economic Development Conference held in Detroit late in April under the sponsorship of the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization. Subsequent appearances by Foreman and his followers were made at various church conventions.

The Manifesto was based on the principle that the black man is entitled to reparations for damages from America's whites---specifically, $500 million from the churches. This money was to be used for a Southern land bank to secure land for black farmers; black-controlled publishing and broadcast enterprises; research and training centers devoted to black people; a black university to be located in the South; and a fund to develope cooperative businesses in the U.S. and Africa. Major church bodies were asked for specific amounts.

Reaction to the Manifesto varied from outright rejection to pleas for understanding. Most churches and their officials agreed that the Black Manifesto pointed up in a dramatic manner the existance of white racism and the depressed state of the blacks. One church leader declared that the Manifesto "makes us more painfully aware of the injustice, violence, and racism which black people know and experience. We acknowledge our involvement in and responsibility for the existence of these realities in our society".

Understanding

by D. Harold Pugh
Hilltop Jaycees

Understanding depends upon good communication. Communication is vital to any guidance system or computer. You cannot react appropriately if the information you act upon is faulty or misunderstood. To deal effectively with a problem, you must have some understanding of its true nature. Most of our failures in human relations are due to misunderstandings.

We expect other people to react and respond and come to the same conclusions as we do from a given set of "facts" or "circumstances". We should remember: no one reacts to "things as they are", but to his own mental images. Most of the time the other persons reaction or position is not taken in order to make us suffer, nor to be hardheaded, nor malicious, but because he "understands" and interprets the situation differently from us. He is responding appropriately to what - to him - seems to be the truth about the situation. To give the other person credit for being sincere, if mistaken, rather than willful and malicious, can do much to smooth out human relations and bring about better understanding between people.

Successful Personalities: They have a respect for other's problems and needs. They respect the dignity of human personality and deal with other people as if they were human beings, rather than as pawns in their own game. They recognize that every person is a child of God and is a unique individuality which deserves some dignity and respect.

A WOMAN whose husband had been elected a judge at the tender age of 38 was being interviewed on a local radio station. "What do you think will be your hardest job as a judge's wife?" she was asked.

"To keep him from becoming stuffy," she replied.

THE NAACP CORNER

by Rev. L'Ray Scott

Greetings fellow Tacomans. It's so nice to visit with you again through this column where again this week we're spotlighting another elected officer of your Tacoma branch of the "Living NAACP"!

This week our spotlight focuses on the Rev. E.S. Brazill, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church.

Rev. Brazill was born April 23, 1910 in Albany, Georgia and was taken to Houston, Texas at the age of 4. He attended Union Mission Baptist Church and became a member there at the age of 12. He later graduated from Wheatley High. He went on to Conroe Normal and Industrial College where he received a Bachelors of Theology degree.

He met and married the former Lily V. Mc David. They are the proud parents of 2 children, a son Nathaniel Brazill and daughter Maxine Miller both of Richmond, California. He is also the grandfather of 4, Rhonda, Derrick Brazill and Myron, Lynne Miller.

He's been in the ministry for 32 years and in the pastorate for 28 years. He brought his family to the Pacific Northwest in 1949 where he pastored at the Sinclair Baptist Church in Bremerton. In 1955 he moved to Tacoma and has pastored at Shiloh ever since.

This thumbnail biography includes many memberships and many accomplishments. He's a past member of the Committee for Tacoma's Future, a past commissioner for the Tacoma Housing Authority, and a past commissioner for the Human Relations Commission...serving as its first black president. He's a past chairman of the Model Cities Executive Board and served as a board member for 2 years after his term had ended. He served a 3 year term as president of the Tacoma Ministerial Alliance. He's a past president of the North Pacific Baptist Convention and is also a past president of the Sunday School and BTU Congress of the North Pacific.

His current memberships include being a 32nd Degree Mason, Chaplain of Cassia Lodge #5 F & AM, a member of the Urban League, a member of the National Baptist Convention U.S.A. Inc., and has served on its board of directors for 3 years.

His NAACP contributions include being a member and serving on the local executive board for many years as well as being a past president (1966) and currently serving as the second vice president.

Rev. Brazill is well loved and respected here in our city because for so many years he has given so much of himself to being a leader and to the betterment of our total community.

The Tacoma NAACP Chapter was well represented at the NAACP West Coast Regional Conference held in Portland, Oregon, April 5th-7th at the Sheraton Motor Inn.

Delegates were: President Jack E. Tanner; Secretary, Mrs. Delores Silas; Membership chairperson, Ms. Rose Marie Johnson; and Board member, the Reverend O.R. Pigford.

Portland's NAACP host Branch President, Rev. Ellis H. Casson was commended--along with his officers for an outstanding and successful 3-day conference session.

The high-light of the Conference was the Freedom Fund Dinner held in the Sheraton Ballroom on Saturday night with the speaker being Ms. B. Delores Tucker, Secretary of State, Harrisburg Pennsylvania. Ms. Tucker, the only Black Secretary of State in our nation and most articulate, held the packed Ballroom guests spellbound as she reviewed the strength, potentialities and achievements of the NAACP over the years. (Watch for important excerpts from Ms. Tucker's address in the "Fantastic Black Facts Column" later this month.)

The Tacoma Branch of NAACP was proud recipient of two NAACP Freedom Award Citations - for outstanding achievement in the field of Membership, one for Youth Memberships and the other for Adult Memberships. Special congratulations to our dynamic membership chairperson, Ms. Rose Marie Johnson who, along with her committee members "set the wheels rolling" by instituting the first phase of our Membership Campaign and Membership Awards program. Ms. Johnson shared with the delegation the methods and plans used for recruiting new members as well as her personal enthusiasm for her role and responsibility as membership chairperson.

On Our J.O.B.'s

By Andre Young

Since last week, several members of the Citizens Affirmative Action Committee, have been employed in various levels of local and State government. They are: Rev. Bob Pigford, Department of Social and Health Services Minority Affairs Office, Olympia, and Ree Hutchine, Special Assistant, to Tacoma Port Commission General Manager, Perry.

For these skeptics and other uncommitted folk the follwoing information is given with the Courtesy of Brother Gerard Baptiste, Office of the Governor.

RE: WHAT AFFIRMATIVE ACTION IS AND IS NOT

The term "Affirmative Action" has caused a lot of anxiety and ti probably means different things to different people. Rather than begin by saying what "Affirmative Action" is -- it might be helpful first to say what it is not:

1. Affirmative Action is not a vocational training program---like the Work Incentive Program (WIN) or the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC);
2. Affirmative Action is not a federal subsidy to encourage you to add new positions -- like the so-called PEP program under the Emergency Employment Act;
3. Affirmative Action is not a welfare program;
4. Affirmative Action is not a housing, health, education, or transportation program;
5. Affirmative Action is not an academic exercise in intergroup sensitivity;
6. Affirmative Action is not merely a philosophic concept or another humanistic statement;
7. Affirmative Action is not an "employer-of-last-resort" program which forces you to hire unqualified applicants;
8. Affirmative Action is not a hush-puppy or a fad that will pass if we just wait it out;
9. Affirmative Action is not a compartmentalized, isolated program tacked on to your present structure and unrelated to your current efforts to achieve organizational objectives;
10. Affirmative Action is fully compatible with "good" management practices in the areas of job structuring in accordance with organizational plans, manpower needs forecasting, recruiting, selection, appointment, evaluation, training, salary administration, and employee upgrading;
11. Affirmative Action is an integral part of personnel management rather than an overlay or an appendage;
12. Affirmative Action is as goal oriented and resource equipped as is personnel management rather than an overlay or an appendage;

12. Affirmative Action is as goal oriented and resource equipped as is personnel management. It is of the same fabric;

13. Affirmative Action is public policy focused on public and private personnel administration;
14. Affirmative Action is a high priority;
15. Affirmative Action is here to stay.

Students Awarded Scholarships

Three Tacoma Community College students have been awarded scholarships to attend the four-year institutions of their choice during the 1974-75 school year.

Recipients of the scholarships from the Upper Division Scholarship Program of the College Entrance Examination Board are Gwendolyn Dean, Steve K. Hudgins, and Harry Williams.

Ms. Dean, a student assistant in the minority affairs office, received an award which would defray 40 percent of the total expenses required to attend any institution in the United States for the 1974-75 academic year. Mr. Williams received an award which would cover 30 percent of his total 1974-75 expenditures, and Mr. Hudgins was awarded 20 percent total coverage.

Upper division scholarships are awarded annually to assist minority students who demonstrate academic potential and promise. Some of the TCC graduates who have this award are Art Corona, Johnny Henderson, Gertrude Faria Young, Frances Brewster, Mozella Ward and Jimmy Lee.

Ms. Ward is now enrolled in the University of Washington nursing school graduate program and Mr. Lee is in the University of Puget Sound Law School. Most of the other recipients are continuing to work toward their respective under graduate degrees.

George Tanbara wins Community Service Award

Dr. George Tanbara, who believes men should struggle for harmony instead of dominance, was awarded the first annual Community Service Award.

The award, a brone medallion with the lettering "Service above Self," was presented today by the Rotary Club of Tacoma at a noon meeting in the Top of the Ocean.

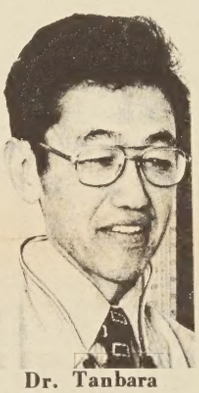
Dr. Tanbara was born in Portland, and was graduated from the University of Minnesota Medical School. He helped to organize and direct the Poison Information Center at Puget Sound General Hospital from 1957 to 1969.

Dr. Tanbara also assisted in the formation of the Pierce County Pediatric Society and the Pierce County Health Council.

Other organizations that he helped to establish were the health clinic in the East Side Neighborhood Center and the Tacoma-Pierce County Sickle Cell Disease Screening and Education Clinic.

In 1966, he helped to initiate the Boy Scouts of America Explorer Medical Post program at Tacoma General Hospital to give teen-agers experience in the medical field.

He served as vice president of Mt. Rainier Council, Boy Scouts, from 1970 to 1972.



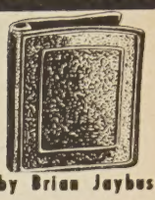
Dr. Tanbara

He is a member of the Tacoma Urban League and was a charter member of the Tacoma Human Relations Commission. He received the Urban League Outstanding Community Service Award in 1971 for developing better health care for the disadvantaged.

Dr. Tanbara summed up his philosophy of life: "Rather than struggle for dominance, let that effort be used to create harmony."

SPORTS RECORD BOOK

Beat The Bucks ?



by Brian Jaybush

The Milwaukee Bucks were a little behind schedule during the regular season. A late season injury to Lucius Allen, plus the fact that perpetual All-Star guard Oscar Robertson , was playing below par due to his age, caused a radical depletion of the Bucks' strength.

Or didn't you notice that Milwaukee won only 59 games this season, after winning more than 60 for the previous three seasons in a row?

But the regular season is not the playoff season... it's only a mess-around time for getting to the playoffs. And since this year's post-season action has started, Milwaukee has taken part in nine playoff games.

And won eight of them.

The reason? That "slowing down" Oscar Robertson. When Lu Allen was hurt badly enough to not ½articipate in the playoffs, it came down to two choices: either Oscar plays as if he were a twenty-year-old again, and lead the Bucks to their second NBA championship--or else he continue his slow-down period and the Bucks face playoff elimination again.

Obviously, Milwaukee hasn't been eliminated yet. And following last Monday's game, when the Bucks concluded their four-game sweep of the Chicago Bulls, Bulls coach Dick Motta reported, "I've never seen Oscar play better. They've got a great team and they played great, all of them. But Oscar gave them direction and just did a good job."

Indicative of this: in the first half of that Monday night game, Oscar didn't score a point... and the Bucks trailed by four at the half. But when the third period started, Oscar went Bang! Bang! Bang!--he scored Milwaukee's first six points of the second half by himself--and Milwaukee then began its surge into the lead, going on to win the game 115-99 after leading by as many as 19 points in the final quarter.

Milwaukee must now face the winner of the Eastern division title, the perpetually winning Boston Celtics. And what can one expect from that final playoff series? Good basketball, I suppose; all the teams that get as far as the finals in any sport at any time have to be playing well, or they wouldn't have survived this long. And, indeed, during the season just passed, Boston came in with the second-best record in the league... while Milwaukee had the best record. Both are perennial winners. Both will be tough.

But no matter how well Boston does, I can't help but feel that this is the Year of the Bucks. Proud Old Boston is going to get itself Kareemed in the finals, with Ol' Oscar leading the way.

WRAC Speaks Out on Harassment of Welfare Recipients

We in WRAC (Welfare Rights Action Council) would like to bring to the attention of the people one of the new problems of harassment being thrown at welfare recipients. I would like to elaborate and mention a few other facts that I feel are important for the clients to know.

To quote the WAC (Washington Administrative Code) 388-22-020 (6) Administrative Procedures Act: "The applicant's statements of his circumstances shall be accepted as evidence of eligibility UNLESS the information given is incomplete, inconsistant, or unclear. The local office shall obtain verification of eligibility factors from the applicant when such verification is deemed necessary by the local office to support a decision on eligibility. Verification must be required when the department determines such action is needed to assure that assistance is provided in accordance with laws and regulations."

I and the rest of the Welfare recipients who are members of the Welfare Rights Action council feel that the word UNLESS is very important, as we are all in favor of all fraud and error (more department error than fraud) being eliminated, but to demand that mothers who have been on assistance for any period of time to have to get babysitters, find transportation and join the crowd, always in the office, for a face to face interview and bring in anywhere up to and beyond 18 different items at their own expense is not even realistic. Many mothers do not have birth certificates and it costs money to get them. Many mothers do not know where the state last took their absent husband to court as they never received copies of these decisions. They just signed the papers allowing the local Support Collection Unit to do it or the Attorney General's office, sent their men from Olympia, to handle it. You either signed the papers or didn't get your check but you were never notified if it helped you or not.

If the information that I give on my six month or three month Eligibility Review form is "incomplete, inconsistant or unclear" then I would be the first to say that it should be questioned. I don't, however, feel that the DSHS (Department of Social and Health Services) should make such demands as are being made. One client got a list of 18 items with 6 things checked to be brought in that she has never had, or claimed to have, or in any way had any connection with her. For some of the mothers these items have been given to the DSHS years ago but a WEE ((Welfare Eligibility Examiner) doesn't have the time, or won't take the time to go back into the long banked old files and check to see if they are there. We all can remember the days when you had to have a worker come to your home and see all of these papers and proofs before you got any assistance. These people should not have to go and relocate it for proof of eligibility.

We in WRAC, the local welfare rights organization, want all welfare recipients to know that we are not just sitting still and watching the state and ultimately the Federal Government and President Nixon try to step on us in one more way. You have the right to demand a fair hearing, on their asking you to do this, and we are encouraging all who get this letter with The Eligibility Review to write immediately and request a fair hearing. You can contact the Pierce County Legal Aid office for assistance in doing this. We swear under penalty of perjury each time we send in our form, and this swearing would be accepted in court, but now we are being asked to prove even more.

WRAC meets twice a month trying to help ourselves and all other recipients learn their rights and how to deal with their problems.

WRAC office phone--272-4181.
Chairperson, Donna Bjugan--572-6612 or call 272-7037.
